Advancing Business Results with Creative Leadership

We are all born creative. And it's worked out of us over time as we age. But it's still accessible for those who are willing to work to open it back up. And it's beneficial to the bottom line of a high-achieving business team. For this workshop, Courtney will focus on leadership essentials and the way teams can organize and leverage diversity and creativity for advanced business results.

Courtney Feider

Courtney Feider is a professional speaker and facilitator who presents at business conferences, workshops, and events. She is a behavioral facilitator and executive coach who focuses on helping people use their native creativity to design new leadership strategies. Courtney has 20 years experience as a corporate communications executive, a brand agency owner, an entrepreneur and as a behavioral facilitator and executive coach. She has worked with and in businesses of all sizes from enterprise to start-up. Courtney speaks on a variety of topics including confidence, resilience, personal brand, executive presence, emotional intelligence, creativity, and personal development. Courtney creates beautiful professional presentations integrating art, music, and experiential creative exercises.
